

Atomic Habits — Revision Booklet

James Clear • 2-page rapid revision • Concepts → Mental model → Recall questions

30-second mental model: Read the bold chain below, then try to explain the book without looking at the page.

Identity → Cue → Craving → Response → Reward → Repetition → Compounding

CORE CONCEPTS

- 1% better repeatedly → compounding results.
- Identity → Process → Outcome: change who you are, then what you repeatedly do.
- Every habit: Cue → Craving → Response → Reward.
- Four laws: Make it Obvious → Attractive → Easy → Satisfying.
- Bad habit reversal: Invisible → Unattractive → Difficult → Unsatisfying.

- Two-Minute Rule: shrink the starting action until it is almost effortless.
- Environment beats willpower: design cues and friction.
- Never miss twice: recover quickly instead of chasing perfection.
- Track repetition, not just outcomes.

Atomic Habits — Active Recall

Close the book. Answer these from memory. Then revisit only the concepts you missed.

1. What identity am I reinforcing with my repeated actions?

2. What is the smallest version of my most important habit?

3. What cue/friction in my environment should I redesign?

One-sentence teach-back: Explain the entire book to someone in one sentence.
